Since coming here she has made many friends both in the army and outside and in leaving she has their sympathy and best wishes for her future success. She leaves on Friday morning's train and intends stopping over for a few days at Carberry, where her father lives, to see her relatives and friends there. She is to be replaced here by Captain Gooding, of Prince Albert, assisted by Lieutenant Scott, of Calgary, who are expected to arrive next week.

R. A. BELL has leased the Sturgeon grist mill for three years from Peter Pruden and will thoroughly refit for this season's work.

A. McFADEN, who bought the lower ferry a few weeks ago, has sold out to W. H. Durdle, of Dakota. Mr. Durdle took possession last Tuesday.

On Sunday morning last the post office at Nanao was destroyed by fire. At about 3 o'clock Mr. Johnston who was sleeping in a room at the north side of the house was awakened by the noise of the flames which were on the outside of the building. After awaking his wife and daughter he succeeded in saving the mails and a portion of his furniture, but the house was soon destroyed. The stable was also burned with the contents. The cause of the fire is a mystery as it apparently started on the outside of the building.

POULTRY IN ALBERTA.

No domestic creatures are so universally distributed as fowls. Cocks crow and hens cackle at the Hudson's Bay posts along the Mackenzie river almost to the coast of the Polar Sea, and in Africa beyond where white men have penetrated fowls are found in great numbers. Even in this country on the Indian reserves fowls are familiar and common amongst the original inhabitants of the country. In no place do fowls thrive better or prove more profitable than in Northern Alberta. The abundance and cheapness of grain for winter food, the number of insects that hop in the summer grass to be pursued by the chickens, the fine runs afforded by the stubble fields and the scattered grain from the threshing machines, cause this country to be a paradise for fowls, which are one of those kind of creatures that produce a profit otherwise than by a natural increase. Cows supply milk, sheep furnish wool and hens provide eggs for which there is always a good demand. In Alberta a very large number of plump chickens can be raised for the fall trade with very little cost, and the demand is always good and will be for a long time to come. The close proximity of the Kootenay country and their increasing demand for this kind of food supply will always give a market for any surplus there may be here. There are many excellent breeds of fowls now in the country and large plump and well matured birds will always command a ready sale at good prices. The poultry industry is rapidly increasing in this part of the country and there will soon be a surplus for the export trade.

NORTHWEST ASSEMBLY.

Edmonton, Sept. 23d, '95.

On the motion to go into committee of supply Mr. Oliver said that before the motion was agreed to he wished to refer to a personal matter. On Saturday he tried to prove that the policy which led to the estimates was wrong. He considered it necessary to know what the policy of the executive was, even if it had to be dragged from them by repeated questions or debates on the present motion. Full advantage was taken of the rules of debate on Saturday night to put him in an unfair position. The question was not whether he did right last year, but did the executive do right last year, and were they doing right now? Last year it was alleged to the house that the choice was between allowing certain people to starve or accept relief on the conditions upon which it was given; that is to say, conditions which ignored the responsibility of the executive to the house. He denied that such were the conditions. He also denied altogether the position which the hon. member for Yorkton had endeavored to place him in. The stand he took last year was consistent with the stand he took now. From the very start he held in the house that it was the duty of the Dominion government to meet the necessity which arose. When the member for Western Assiniboia returned from Ottawa he made a dead set on the assembly for the purpose of compelling them to shoulder that burden. That satisfied him (Mr. Oliver) as to what was the intention of the Dominion government in the matter, and from that time he insisted upon the position that the assembly should either get the Dominion government to come to a conclusion about granting the relief before the assembly rose, or they should grant the amount required for the relief in that house. When the Dominion member came from Ottawa and used every art of which he was able—and he had a good many—to get the local revenue saddled with that expenditure, he (Mr. Oliver) held it was the duty of the executive to take every means they could to save their treasury. When the deputation was sent from here it was instructed to put an ultimatum before the Dominion parliament so as to bring them to the point before the assembly rose. The remarks on Friday by the member for Moose Jaw convinced him that if that had been done the executive would have got the money required. He (Mr. Oliver) was the only private member of the house who on the floor of the house declared he was willing to vote the money necessary to meet that destitution if it were proven conclusively that the Dominion government would not come to the rescue. Had the house on that occasion voted the money in a constitutional manner they would have shown that they understood their constitutional rights and were prepared to grapple with their responsibilities, and they would have had the money back in their treasury to day, instead of having their finances thrown into disorder. He considered that the executive, instead of acting as agents of the assembly, had adopted a policy of servility and acted as the agents of the Dominion government, a fact which was admitted by the hon. member for Moose Jaw.

Mr. Insinger said the hon. member for Edmonton had exerted great ingenuity in the endeavor to place the executive in an unfair position. It was more than jugglery—it was legendmaking. It was only when the hon. member accepted the report of his remarks of last year that he was nailed to them.

Dr. Brett proceeded at some length to show that the position taken by him some years ago had in its favor the difference of opinion as to the interpretation of the constitution we then had. There was no such difference of opinion now. The right of control by the house had been fully established and therefore the action of the executive was more unjustifiable.

Mr. Ross said the hon. member for Edmonton (Mr. Oliver) had laid stress upon the fact that he (Mr. Ross) had stated that the executive were the agents of the Dominion government at Ottawa. Now the hon. member could not believe that himself. What he did say, and would say again, was that the executive were to a certain extent the agents of the Dominion government. They had had that Dominion money voted as a lump sum, and they had to account to Ottawa for every dollar of it, dollar by dollar, therefore to-day they were in the position of being agents in that respect for all moneys voted from Ottawa, and parliament had to have an account of that money, as they would see by the auditor general's report even to the washing of a towel. That debate was really as to whether relief should have been given or not. At the time the need existed there was no place to get the money except from local sources. Not one single question had arisen as to whether the money had been expended wisely or not. There was no alternative for the executive but to wait until the house met again or take the matter into their own hands as they did, and trust to the house to endorse their action. (Applause.)

Mr. Clinkskill remarked that at the last session of the house the accredited amount of receipts and expenditure came to $271,675. The amount now was $250,379, a difference of $21,000 less. In the expenditure of 1894-95 there was $16,000 for the indemnity. That with the $25,000 brought it that they were voted to-day $41,000 less than they were last year as an aggregate. Between 1894-95 they had not got one dollar increase because they were told by the hon. member for Macleod that that $25,000 was voted for the specific purposes of relief. The hon. gentleman proceeded to again deal with the items of $39,000 less overdraft and amount required to pay outstanding accounts for 1894-95, the $9,000 estimated balance from local sources and the $45,000 as estimated receipts for July and August, 1896, of which he required explanation. He claimed that the figures prescribed before them were inflated and had been juggled with.

Mr. Haultain said that regarding the $45,000, the proposition was that the school term would be changed so that they would be obliged this year to provide for a certain amount in connection with the school grants which they would not have been obliged to provide for in previous years. As to the $9,000 unexpended of local money, they must always keep on hand a certain amount of local money for special purposes. In reply to the hon. member for Edmonton he denied that any information had been dragged from the executive. They had given all possible information willingly, and taken the house into full confidence in everything, and the vote of Friday and Saturday showed that. He maintained that the executive had adhered strictly to the sound constitutional proposition that the house must have full control of its expenditure. The house had always recognized a possibility of an extraordinary expenditure being required. He would remind hon. gentlemen of the clause in the revenue ordinance which stated that the hon. governor-in-council, to meet an extraordinary state of affairs and for the public utility of the Territories, might make an expenditure without a vote. But he did not rest his case upon that, but upon it being constitutional. The executive did lay down the principle that cases of great emergency required extraordinary provision, and this case was one of that kind. He did not think it was fair to take advantage of the exceptional circumstances of last autumn, announced as they were to the house, and frame an argument and foist a new policy upon the executive on account of it. He simply denied the allegation, and maintained that the executive had carried out to the full the legitimate idea of responsible government.

The motion that the speaker leave the chair was carried without division and the house went into committee of supply.

Monday evening, Sept. 23.
At 8 o'clock the house went at last into committee of the whole on supply.

Upon the vote of $4,000 for hospitals—a reduction from last year of $500—Messrs. Mowat, Brett and Magrath made earnest appeal for generous aid to hospitals.

Mr. Haultain said the vote was all that could possibly be afforded. He was sure every member felt like giving to the utmost of their power. The vote would not preclude the member's private donations.

On the item $5,500 for executive committee Haultain explained that it only provided for two resident members of the committee at Regina.

"Clerical assistance $8,970." Mr. Haultain gave a statement of the several salaries paid showing the reductions and increases. It appeared incidentally that there had been dissatisfaction with the clerical work done in the education office and that a considerable change had been made in certain of the salaries there with a view to increasing the efficiency of the office.

"Schools, $115,000." Mr. Oliver elicited the explanation that the proposed new system of grants was estimated to reduce the grants to existing schools by some $2,000 or $3,000. It would be more in the direction of a change in the adjustment than an actual reduction. To a question by Mr. Mawing a fifth school inspector had not been considered by the Executive, but it was possible and probable that a fifth would be found necessary. In any case, none would be engaged before next spring. Inspectors draw each a salary of $1400.00 and expenses. Expenses differed in different districts. One inspector's expenses had been $700 for a year; another $400.

Mr. Mowat said the Regina school had not been inspected since last year. He understood the new grants would reduce the amount drawn by the Regina school about $700 or $800. He advocated before reducing grants that a reduction might be made in the education offices.

Roads and bridges and miscellaneous district expenditure, $65,039.50.

Dr. Brett asked if the equal division plan would be continued.

Mr. Haultain said that the districts which got the relief last fall would get only half as much as the others. In answer to Mr. Dill he reiterated that members must get authority before proceeding with any work. In case of emergency the member might proceed without this authority, but he hoped there would not be too many emergencies.

Mr. Oliver wanted a statement of why the fund was smaller than last year, and also why contractors for works done towards the end of the last fiscal year were not promptly paid. He said the information should have been given without asking. The executive had striven to convince the house that nothing had been lost by the relief expenditure, but he noticed this fund was $13,000 short.

Mr. Ross said the explanation was easy. The relief cost (deducting what was due the relief districts in any case) just about $40,000. The sum recouped up to date was $27,000. That made the difference of $13,000. But the difference was not all there. Mr. Haultain in his formal statement had given full explanation.

Mr. Oliver acknowledged that Mr. Ross' explanation was lucid. He wanted now the balance of his questions answered.

Mr. Neff said some of the accounts had been delayed because the funds for them had been spent on relief and had not then been re-opened. Mr. Haultain supplemented that by reminding the house that two months of the assembly's fiscal year extends after the Dominion fiscal year has closed, therefore when parliament has not voted the North-West grant until after 1st July, the executive cannot get money for July and August until the new credit is established.

The discussion also brought out the fact that the districts which received relief last year, will, in the succeeding year, be given only half allowance of the fund—that is they will draw about $1,200, while other districts will get $2,400.

Free Press dispatch San Francisco, Sept. 25th, says: The defence in the case of Durant opened to-day. Attorney Eugene Deuprey in his opening address made the sensational charge that Rev. Two prominent Kootenay mining men S. J. Humphrey and W. McIntyre came in last Friday and since have spent the time prospecting across the Thompson river between the ferry and Tranquille. People passing were not so considerate of their feelings as to restrain themselves from jeering at the fools, as they thought them, hammering away at such barren looking rock. These men knew what they were doing, however, and on Wednesday they located three claims. They went back again to investigate their properties further and have been blasting. The surface rock is an iron and basaltic mass said to have been obtained as high as $100 in gold. The vein is about eight feet wide and can be distinctly traced on the claims recorded.—Kamloop Sentinel.

LACOMBE FALL FAIR

The second annual fall fair under the auspices of Lacombe agricultural society was held at Lacombe on Thursday, Sept. 26th, and proved a grand success in every respect. Notwithstanding the lateness of the harvest there were some good samples of grain exhibited, including a sample in sheaf exhibited by P. Talbot, which had only to be seen to be admired. The roots and garden vegetables were equal, if not superior, to those shown last year, and were the wonder of all. The exhibit of horses was a great improvement on last year, both in number and quality, some of which are worthy of special mention, but we will not particularize. The show of cattle would do credit to any fair grounds in the Territories. The number exhibited was double that of last year. It is pleasing to see that our people are largely going into stock raising, which no doubt is the best and surest means of making a living in this country. The sheep exhibited by S. W. Paisley were something new on our fair grounds and were much admired. Some of the pigs shown were very good. There was not such a large exhibit as last year but a marked improvement in breeding was noticed. In poultry there were some very fine birds shown. Worthy of special mention was a pair of turkeys shown by Mrs. Fernie. In the ladies' work department the display was simply elegant, some of the paintings and the different samples of embroidery shown would do credit to any exhibition in our wide dominion. As this is a delicate subject to handle it would not be wise to particularize.

The following is the list of successful exhibitors:

GENERAL NEWS.

There is not a community in the world, of 5,000,000 in numbers, more free from objectionable elements than that of Canada. An American exchange says: "Canadians are well versed in the art of self-government. They clearly understand that true liberty is not license, therefore they have profound respect for law and constitutional means and methods. They demand honest money. They have adopted gold as a single standard of exchange or measure of values. There is not any demand in Canada for rag money, or a devalued silver currency. Although an ultra loyal people, they believe in protection to Canadian industries in preference to those of Mother England. They have as many miles of railway per capita as we have and the history of their banking system is most creditable to their skill in finance."

The emigration returns from the British Isles show a decided increase this year. Unfortunately Canada has not been the greater thereby to the extent that was expected and certainly not to the extent her advantages as a field of settlement deserved. Up to the end of August 124,700 persons of British origin had left the kingdom, of whom 72,111 were English 40,804 Irish and 11,785 Scotch, or 27,551 more than in the corresponding period last year. The destination of those emigrants was: To the United States 89,831, an increase of 25,756; to Canada 12,304, a decrease of 830; to Australia 5,905, an increase of 15; to Cape of Good Hope and Natal 10,977, an increase of 2,613. Of the emigrants to Canada 10,308, were of English, 1,156 of Scotch and 840 of Irish origin.

Prof. Olaskow, of Austria, who has been visiting the Canadian Northwest, with the object of getting acquainted with the country as a field of settlement, returned to the city Monday accompanied by Mr. H. E. Corstens, of the Dominion immigration staff who has been acting as guide to the professor on his tour. They spent most of the time in the Edmonton country, and visited every Austrian settlement, driving about ten days. Every farmer in these settlements who was spoken to by the professor, expressed himself as well pleased with the progress he has made, and the professor returns satisfied with the knowledge gained on his travels. The experimental farm at Indian Head was visited on the return. A trip was made into British Columbia and the local government interviewed on the amount of land opened for settlement in the valleys of the province. In Alberta all the vacant land in large blocks appeared to be some distance from the railways. The practical Austrian farmer who accompanied the party is now visiting the settlements at Grenfell and Balgonie; the professor and Mr. Corstens intend leaving this week for the southwestern part of the province.—Free Press.

On next lesson sermon to young people in the Methodist church next Sabbath morning. Subject, "Addition and Subtraction," a blackboard sermon. Evening subject: "The broken covenant."

The Fort Saskatchewan rifle association matches which were to have commenced today have been postponed until next week so as not to interfere with our fall fair. They will now take place on the 10th, 11th and 12th inst., and it is expected that a good number of our local marksmen will attend.

JAMES SCOTT will hear appeals from the assessment fixed by the court of revision of the town council in the court room at ten o'clock on Monday, October 14th. The following appeals have been entered: H. B. Co., P. Heimick, Jos. Viles, S. S. Taylor, D. McArthur, H. C. Taylor, D. McDougall, H. H. Robertson, Taylor & Edmondson, Jas. Adam.

A young miner named Juman who was working on the Saskatchewan at Sucker creek, has been brought to the police hospital at Fort Saskatchewan suffering from a failure of the lower limbs similar to that of which the two brothers who were found dead in the same locality in the latter part of last winter were supposed to have suffered from. This case will furnish some clue to the actual cause of death in the former case.

E. BRAY, D. L. S., of Toronto, came in by last train and is stopping at the Alberta hotel. He was in this part of the country in the summers of '82 and '83 surveying base lines, but had never been at Edmonton before and is much pleased with the appearance of the town. Having heard considerable of the gold in the Saskatchewan, he came here to see what was being done to develop it with the view of investing in machinery for taking it out of the river.

BENNETT GOSWOLD, who arrived from the north last week accompanied by Rev. Antonio, inspector of missions of the Oblates, spent the summer in visiting the missions of his diocese in the Mackenzie and Peace rivers. The new steamer built at Fort Smith by Captain Boyd, is a perfect success and ran down the Mackenzie to Fort Good Hope, within the Arctic circle, where the missionaries from the still further north assembled in council. Another mission council was held at Providence mission on the Mackenzie river north of Great Slave lake, and still another at Chipewyan. From Chipewyan the route lay up the Peace river and then by way of Lesser Slave lake to Edmonton. Bishop Goswold will return north next week, but owing to the lateness of the season will not go further than Lesser Slave lake, where he will pass the winter.

THE EDMONTON EXHIBITION.

The directors of the Edmonton agricultural society have been busy for the past few days getting ready for the exhibition which is to be held here to-morrow and next day. The secretary has already received a large number of entries and the prospects are that there will be more exhibits this year than ever before. The exhibition of live stock will be held at the curling rink property, and pens are being put up for the accommodation of sheep, pigs and cattle in the yard adjoining the rink, and the poultry will be placed inside the building. Parties wishing to see this part of the show will need to attend on the first day as the directors have decided to allow the exhibitors to remove all live stock on Friday evening as it has been considered a hardship to compel them to remain in town so long under exposure. The exhibition of grain, vegetables, fruits, farm produce, ladies work, &c., will be held in the town hall, and a charge of 25 cents will be made for admission to this building, which will be open to visitors from 4 p. m. to 10 p. m. on Friday and from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. on Saturday. In addition to the usual exhibit for prizes we understand that some of the merchants of the town intend making a display of such goods as they sell at their place of business. This is a new departure here and if the management committee had the room to spare so that there could be a general display by the merchants it would materially increase the attractiveness of the show. We hope that in the near future a much larger building will be available and that the merchants generally will make a display of their goods and in this way assist the exhibition while at the same time they are advertising their business. We hope the weather will continue fine and that the fair will be a great success.

LACOMBE LINKS.

Don't forget the opening of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, Lacombe, on Sabbath next, Oct. 6th. Services will be conducted by the Rev. D. G. McQueen, of Edmonton, at 11 a. m. and 7 p. m., and the entertainment and social on the Monday evening following (Oct. 7th), commencing at 6.30.

Our fall fair was a grand success and it was very encouraging to see the fine vegetables etc., that were exhibited.

A new Methodist parsonage is well under way and will be quite an addition to the town.

Mr. Cleveland and family, who went back across the line in early summer, have returned again and intend holding down the home-stead he vacated.

A shipment comprising about eleven hundred head of fat sheep were shipped from here on Sunday, destined for the British market. The lot was composed of three carloads, 600 head, from Mr. Johnston, of Strathclair; two carloads, 370 head, from the Little Plume Ranch Co., Medicine Hat; one carload, 175 head, from Rutherford & Son's ranch, Lacombe. The sheep from this section were a splendid lot and equal to anything of the kind ever shipped out of the stock country. Mr. W. Rutherford accompanies the shipment to Liverpool.—Medicine Hat News.

The dangerous illness of the Prince of Wales in December, 1871, was the cause of events—curious and amusing—which will ever find a place in the history of British journalism. The death of the Prince seemed inevitable for the doctors began to despair. One day the announcement went forth that his Royal Highness could not survive many hours, and accordingly every daily newspaper in the Kingdom had its obituary of the Prince "set," or put into type. But the expected telegram announcing the death never came, and so at midnight when the hour for going to press was close at hand, many a newspaper man who had relied upon his biographical sketch of the Prince filling six or eight columns of the paper was compelled to fill up the blank columns with "standing matter" of all kinds, such as old advertisements and older news. The principal newspaper editors subsequently sent the prince at his own request, "proofs of the obituaries, and pasted in a bulky scrap book, they now form one of the strangest and most curious objects to be seen at Marlborough House.—Chamber's Journal.

It is not generally known that grapes grow in Manitoba. On the Winnipeg market a few days ago a load of Manitoba grapes were offered. The fruit is a wild variety which is found growing along the Red and Assiniboine rivers in the vicinity of Winnipeg, and it doubtless may be found in other parts of the province where conditions are similarly favorable.

On being interviewed by a Tribune reporter at the Winnipeg Station last week on his return to the East, Governor Chapleau said: "I have been through to the sea coast, and my trip has been a delightful one. I was perfectly amazed at the wonderful crops of grain I have been looking at for days. We visited the French settlements at Lake Marquette, Calgary, Edmonton, where we spent four days, and yesterday we visited the Indian Head experimental farm, and drove from there to Mont Martre, a French settlement of 150 souls, and from thence to Wolsley. At every settlement we found the people prosperous and contented. I think your climate most delightful."
